Marshall County FRN Board of Directors Names Officers

MOUNDSVILLE – Christopher J. Turak, Esq. has been voted president of the Marshall County Family Resource Network’s Board of Directors for 2010. Turak, a partner in the Moundsville law firm of Gold, Kourey & Turak, will serve a one-year term. Turak had previously been the FRN’s board president in 2008 before leaving the board following a three-year term. Turak succeeds J.W. Freeland.

Heather Blake of Mound View Health Care was named the board’s vice president. Blake joined the FRN board in 2009. Karen S. Coffield of Northwood Health Systems and Ronda Francis of the Marshall County Health Department were voted co-treasurer/secretary for an additional one-year term.

The Marshall County Family Resource Network’s Board of Directors also includes V. Tad Greene, Esq. of Jackson Kelly PLLC; Dr. Bonnie Ritz of the Marshall County Schools; Linda Berlin of Marshall County Schools; Moundsville City Manager Allen Hendershot; community leader Carolyn Dalzell; Angie L. Coe of WesBanco Bank; Russ Tucker from West Virginia DHHR and Chris Kitchen of the YWCA.

The Marshall County Family Resource Network is a nonprofit organization based in Moundsville that is working to make Marshall County a better place to live and work. From a $40,000 grant from the State of West Virginia, the FRN has leveraged more than $2.2 million in state and federal funding for community-based efforts since 2005.
